CAROLA FUMAROLA

Carola Fumarola lives and works in Bologna. She graduated in Architecture from the Polytechnic University of Turin, where she studied design under Gabetti & Isola and collaborated as an assistant to Pietro Derossi. These experiences shaped her ability to approach architecture holistically — from the overall design concept to the finest details of interior design.

Since 1995, through her architectural services company Arking srl, she has promoted complex infrastructure projects across Italy. Her work also extends to the restoration of major buildings and the development of concepts for large-scale franchising and commercial projects, overseeing both the creative phase and the development process of the final product for Italian and international brands such as LG and Daikin.

In 2014, she founded ARCADE STUDIO, focusing on civic, residential, and commercial architecture, with particular attention to the contemporary restoration of historic buildings in Rome, Milan, Bologna, and Southern Italy.

The distinctive hallmark of her work lies in her ability to combine the recovery of historical memory with a clean and modern aesthetic, approaching spaces, functions, and architectural elements with sensitivity and refinement. Her research also explores the creative and sophisticated use of diverse materials applied to architecture and custom-designed furnishings.

She has completed the renovation of villas, masserie, convents, and prestigious apartments, as well as projects for commercial spaces, boutique hotels, and representative offices.

Her projects have been featured in several national and international publications, including La fabbrica delle foglie, La casa bestiale, La Baronella, Rinascimento Privato, Vivere il '500, and Fioriture.

VANESSA STELLA

A design architect, he graduated from the University of Florence with a focus on "Protection and Recovery of Architectural Historical Heritage," later specializing in bioarchitecture and feng shui. After his studies and 10 years of private practice, he decided to take over the family business, which has been operating in the furniture sector for over 50 years.

From his passion for art, the UNICA brand was born in 2015, with the ambitious goal of blending spaces with their component elements. The art and decoration of the furnishings thus create unique spaces that perfectly resonate with those who enjoy them day after day. "Art more than anything else gives us the opportunity to enter the field of the unconscious and to interpret, through sign and color, the sensations and desires that allow us to live our spaces to the fullest."

Continued investment in research and innovation together with collaboration with master craftsmen has led to the development of highly personalized products, appreciated both in Italy and abroad.

Today, Vanessa Stella's additional challenge is to consolidate the excellent results achieved in recent years by increasing the company's presence in foreign markets, bringing Made in Italy excellence to every part of the world.

ECLISSE™

"Eclisse" is born from the precise desire to create magical environments in which energy flows, as occurs in those special events that have always enchanted man and that we call eclipses. Places of wonder that the eye never tires of observing. A sequence, an overlapping, a cancellation of circular shapes softened by the irregular organic shape of the crystal, the fluid graphics of celestial inconsistency, and the high or low, full or empty, metal bases. A material mixture of crystal and perforated metal for curved tables with lunar lines.

This collection is composed of 9 tables, each arranged in 4 lines: "Azimuth, Saros, Apogeo, and Prominace"; and 3 screens that give life to the "Eclissarsi" line.

High and low tables designed to expand and multiply their spatial dimension towards infinity have been UNICA's answer to the precise desire to recreate the suggestion that only a special event can provide the observer: the magic of an eclipse in which the alternating light and shadows can merge regardless of the place and time.

I love what I don't have and you are so far away. My boredom fights with the slow twilights. But the night comes and begins singing to me.

The Moon turns its dreaming film. The biggest stars look at me with your eyes and because I love you, the pines in the wind want to sing your name with their leaves.

Light. Then shadow. One step, then another, and it changes anew. A crown of golden rays before the farewell.

A tap, a light touch
and the wait begins again.*
